Learning Objectives:

- This lecture will focus on advances in robotic remote presence technology for the provision of primary and specialized health services. We will present our experience with this technology in Saskatchewan in both urban and remote rural settings.

- Disruptive technologies such as Artificial Intelligence (AI), brain repair with stem cells, 3D printing, and the use of robotics for patient care will be explored. Particular emphasis will be given on the impact of these technologies on the future practice of medicine.

DATE: Friday, September 28th, 2018
LOCATION: E1130 Health Sciences
TIME: 0715 – 0815