

2019-20 Award for Excellence in the CanMEDS Health Advocate Role

Purpose

To recognize medical residents who have excelled in the CanMEDS Health Advocate role while training at the College of Medicine, University of Saskatchewan.

The Award

- Two awards as determined by the Awards Committee are available on an annual basis.
- One award will be granted to a resident training in Family Medicine; the other award will be granted to a resident training in a Royal College specialty-training program.

Eligibility

Any resident currently enrolled in a College of Medicine (RCPSC or CFPC) postgraduate training program at the University of Saskatchewan.

Nomination Process

Each year the Postgraduate Medical Education Office issues a call for nominations. Undergraduate medical students, residents, faculty and staff of the College of Medicine are eligible to nominate a candidate. Self-nominations are ineligible.

Nominations are currently being accepted for the 2019-20 Award for Excellence in the CanMEDS Health Advocate Role

Nominations must be submitted as a single PDF with documents in the following order:

1. Nomination form
2. Letter from nominator
3. Two additional letters of support
4. Additional supporting evidence

NOTE: All supporting documents must address the criteria listed below. Incomplete/improperly formatted submissions will not be accepted.

Nominations must be submitted electronically to Ms. Della Toews at della.toews@usask.ca.

The deadline for submitting nominations is Friday, July 17, 2020. Nominations received after the deadline will not be considered.

Criteria

1. Excellence in health advocacy in different settings (e.g., clinical, teaching, continuing education, research, program administration, and social settings). Examples include, but are not limited to, advocacy for individual patients, specific population groups, and underserved areas (local, provincial, national, and global), advocacy for the specialty and/or profession.
2. Evidence of advocacy work in settings outside of the parent program (e.g., local, provincial, national, or international) and positive impact on outcomes.
3. Evidence of resident's advocacy skills and behaviors linked to satisfaction and positive impact on educational outcomes in the program or in a more generalized area.
4. Demonstrated commitment to improving advocacy skills.

Selection

Nominations are adjudicated by the CanMEDS Awards Committee, an ad hoc subcommittee of the Postgraduate Medical Education Committee. This committee includes the Postgraduate Medical Education Dean (or designate), a Department Head, one faculty member each from Academic Family Medicine (or designate) and a Royal College Specialty, an undergraduate student representative and a postgraduate resident representative. Other members may be added as designated by the Dean, College of Medicine.
