

2023-24 Exemplary Resident Award

Purpose

To recognize medical residents who serve as role models for others by successfully integrating Medical Expert and all intrinsic CanMEDS roles during residency education at the College of Medicine, University of Saskatchewan.

The Award

- One award (across all programs) is available on an annual basis.

Eligibility

Any resident currently enrolled in a College of Medicine (RCPSC or CFPC) postgraduate residency program at the University of Saskatchewan.

Selection Criteria

- Demonstrated excellence in Medical Expert role.
- Demonstrated role model behaviors in all six intrinsic CanMEDS roles.
- Integration of all seven CanMEDS roles in an exemplary manner, specifically demonstrating commitment to the profession, high standards of professionalism, life-long learning, excellent interpersonal skills, transformational leadership abilities and work-life balance.

Nomination Process

Each year the Postgraduate Medical Education Office issues a call for nominations. Department Heads, Program Directors, and Leaders in the College of Medicine are eligible to nominate a candidate. Self-nominations are ineligible.

Nominations are currently being accepted for the 2023-24 Exemplary Resident Award. The deadline for nominations is Friday, May 31, 2024.

Selection Process

An ad hoc subcommittee of the Postgraduate Medical Education Committee will adjudicate the nominations. This committee includes the Postgraduate Medical Education Dean (or designate), three additional persons from among the central academic or administrative leadership of the College of Medicine, and a postgraduate resident representative.
