

Certificates or Master's Degree in HEALTH PROFESSIONS EDUCATION

This online program is for health professionals looking to improve teaching practices, leadership skills, and curriculum design.

Applications open September 15, 2021

Program Start Dates: May 1, 2022 or Sept. 1, 2022

Complete one or both of the online four-course certificates or ladder the certificates into the Master of Education in Health Professions Education.

Program Details:

- Certificate in Quality Teaching begins Sept. 1, 2022.
- Certificate in Improving Teaching & Learning begins May 1, 2022.
- Part-time and Full-time options
- Tuition:
 - Domestic: $1300 per 3cu course
 - International: $2054 per 3cu course

Admission Requirements:

- Four-year degree, or equivalent
- GPA of at least 70% for Masters
- GPA of at least 65% for Certificates
- Language proficiency
- Teaching responsibilities and/or ability to demonstrate teaching experience

Program Courses

Certificate in Quality Teaching in Health Professions Education

This certificate will focus on instructional teaching methods including the effective use of technology, experiential learning, simulations, and effective student assessment.

Fall Term

ECUR 836.3: Teaching Methodologies Facilitating Learning Through Teaching

ECUR 837.3: Technology and Simulation in Teaching and Learning

Winter Term

EADM 894.3: Laboratory in Educational Administration

ECUR 838.3: Learner Assessment

Certificate in Improving Teaching & Learning in Health Professions Education

This certificate will give faculty and instructors in the health sciences the skills and knowledge needed to lead curricular design and program development activities.

Spring Term

EADM 816.3: Leadership for Enhancement of Teaching and Learning

EADM 829.3: Organizational Renewal in Educational Systems and Settings

Fall Term

ECUR 809.3: Models and Methods for Evaluation of Educational Programs

ECUR 839.3: Program Curriculum and Course Design Development

Master of Education in Health Professions Education

Complete the 2 certificate program courses to enroll in the final masters courses. The master's degree will focus on applying knowledge and skills to conduct health professions education research and program evaluation.

Winter Term

EADM 842.3: Research in Health Professions Education

ECUR 991.3: Scholarship in Teaching