

Faculty Development presents:

Teaching Bootcamp

If you would like an introduction to teaching in the College of Medicine, at the U of S, are a new faculty member or would like to improve your teaching, please join us! Take any one or all four Teaching Bootcamp modules!

All sessions will be held via WebEx

Preparation for Teaching in the Classroom and in Rounds

Objectives:

- Write standardized instructional objectives
- Plan an instructional session with Set, Body and Closure
- Deliver a planned instructional session
- Use audiovisual aids effectively
- Critique instructional sessions such as rounds

Date: Wednesday, November 18

Time: 2-4 PM

Register here!

Teaching in a Clinical Environment

Objectives:

- Use strategies to create a safe learning environment
- Describe the characteristics of effective clinical learning
- Deliver a planned instructional session
- Utilize the learning cycle and other models to teach effectively
- Evaluation clinical teaching sessions

Date: Friday, November 20

Time: 2-4 PM

Register here!

Assessment in Medical Education

Objectives:

- Create a blueprint for assessment
- Write quality Multiple Choice Questions
- Develop Clinical Decision making type questions using the key feature approach

Date: Wednesday, November 25

Time: 2-4 PM

Register here!

Providing Effective Feedback in a Clinical Setting

Objectives:

- Describe work based assessment approach used in competency framework
- Describe the elements of effective verbal and narrative feedback
- Use evidence-based strategies for giving feedback to learners effectively

Date: Friday, November 27

Time: 2-4 PM

Register here!

